Acknowledgements

This book contains serious research. Young scientists Chinmaya Kulkarni and Vishwesh Pavnaskar did the entire research while working for Janwani, an NGO working to make Pune the most livable city in India. My sincere thanks are due to them. I spent hundreds of hours working with them and enjoyed every minute of it. Ravi Pandit and Vishal Jain, trustees of Janwani and Dr. Kulkarni, Director of Janwani made valuable suggestions and contributions. So did Santosh Gondhalekar in the field of Biomass. Rajesh Upasani provided many illustrations . The entire team of Janwani pitched in with suggestions, insights, facts and figures; sincere thanks are due to them. Falguni Gokhale, the eminent designer, did a masterful job of designing this book. The task was difficult as the book contained many tables and graphs and looked like a Ph.D. thesis, but she converted it to an eminently readable book. If the book serves its purpose, they get the credit. All the errors of omissions and commissions are mine.
